Mrs. Jackson’s Supply List

1) 4 Boxes of Crayons - I give each student a new box of crayons at the start of each quarter. Crayons are the cheapest during back to school season.

2) 1 inch binder - This is the take home binder that goes back and forth each day. The binder allows me to fit the school agenda in it and page protectors to keep needed items handy (word lists/lunch menus).

3) Glue sticks - The reason I request 4 or more NOW is that during back to school time they are the cheapest they will ever be. We do many learning projects and glue sticks are a must.

4) Pencils - because the kids eat them...and seriously, I don't really know how we go through so many...

5) Extra Erasers - because mistakes happen a lot when you're learning to write!

6) EXPO markers - I use them daily AND the kids use them daily in small groups. If a lid gets left off, then the marker dies a slow death. We need a lot of these.

7) Composition Notebook - Used as a writing journal and/or interactive notebook. To begin to learn to write on notebook paper.

8) Tissues - because snot is gross and the toilet paper at school will tear up a little ones nose.

9) Large Pencil Pouch w/ strong zippers - This is a must to keep supplies in an orderly state. No boxes please they break easily from all the wear and tear pouches are better
